

Greg Renker

Partner

Established in 1988, Guthy-Renker is one of the World's largest direct marketers and was listed by Forbes Magazine as one of the largest privately held companies in the US.

Renker, along with partner Bill Guthy, has been spotlighted by Fortune Magazine on its list of "America's Smartest Young Entrepreneurs" and also was honored regionally as one of Inc.'s "Entrepreneurs of the Year".

Renker co-founded the Electronic Retailing Association and in 2004, he received ERA's Lifetime Achievement Award. He currently serves as Chairman Emeritus of the organization.

Renker is deeply involved in his local community, serving on the Board of Directors and as former Chairman of the Eisenhower Medical Center, as well as the former Chairman of the Annenberg Center for Health Sciences.

Greg Renker is on the Board of Directors of The Row, which was founded by Mary-Kate and Ashley Olsen, and also on the Board of Directors of Casa Dragones Tequila.

Greg Renker is the recipient of the 2012 Horatio Alger Award for Distinguished Americans, and sits on their Executive Committee.

Guthy-Renker's products have included Proactiv acne treatment system, Meaningful Beauty with Cindy Crawford, WEN by Chaz Dean, Tony Robbins Get the Edge, Winsor Pilates, IT Cosmetics, and Crepe Erase.

Greg is a part owner of Tucker Tooley Entertainment. Most recently, Greg was an Executive Producer on "6 Below: Miracle on the Mountain" starring Josh Hartnett, "Den of Thieves" and "Den of Thieves 2" each starring Gerard Butler and O'Shea Jackson Jr., "Mary" starring Gary Oldman and Emily Mortimer, "Concrete Cowboy" starring Idris Elba, "Arthur the King" starring Mark Wahlberg, and "The Deliverance" starring Andra Day and Glenn Close.